

Getting to know a scholar: Sergei Miles November 11 - November 17

Background: Sergei Miles is from North Wilkesboro, NC. He attended Wilkes Central High School, where he graduated in 2015. He is currently majoring in Mathematics with minor in Computer Science. His favorite subjects are Modern Algebra and Number Theory, and enjoys passing the time by snowboarding, reading/writing, and playing video games. Sergei chose to major in math because “Math was my favorite subject in high school, and I want to be a professor.” As for why he chose to attend Appalachian State University, “Appalachian was close to home and provided wonderful undergraduate research opportunities.”
