

Getting to know a scholar: Gabriel Arellano January 20 - January 26

Background: Gabriel Arellano is from Asheboro, NC where he attended Asheboro High School. He is majoring in Computer Science and his favorite subject is Health Science; “.. I had dreams of becoming a nurse or some similar career in the healthcare industry, going as far as getting my C.N.A.” He enjoys gaming, working on his car, and attending car shows. Gabe decided to major in Computer Science because “I have always been interested in computers/technology and wondered how the software that is ran on was created.” As far as choosing ASU, “Living in the mountains seemed like something I would enjoy and the size of the campus was perfect for me.”
