

Getting to Know a Scholar: 3/14-3/20/16

Stephen Bunn is from Rocky Mount and attended Nash Community College high school from which he graduated in 2013. He is a computer science major and his favorite subject is science. Stephens's interests include story writing, philosophy, film, production, world travel, application development, web development, poetry, physics, BCI development, martial arts, and art. He chose computer science because of Moore's Law and the idea that Computer Science is the most raw and practical use of mathematics and physics combined. He chose ASU because of the small class sizes and accessibility of professors.