

Getting to Know a Scholar: 11/28 – 12/4/16

Background: Thomas Lawing is from Belmont, NC where he attended South Point High School and graduated in 2015. He is a Computer Science major and his favorite subject is computer science. He enjoys football, basketball, Marvel movies, LOTR series, mainstream music, and watching ESPN. He chose Computer Science because his dad majored in computer science and he has always thought computers were interesting. He chose ASU because the cold weather, the distance from home is just right, he had friends going to school here, and the computer science program is very good.
